At DRI Consulting, our team of Organizational Consultants has more than 100 years of combined experience in workplace science and organization management. Our combination of objective data, real world experience, and expert interpretation will accelerate your company's engagement, productivity, and performance.

DRIC earned a rating of 92 out of 100 for overall performance in Dun & Bradstreet's Open Ratings Past Performance Evaluation in 2007. Given our score, here's what you can expect from your partnership with us.

WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT FROM US

Personalized solutions. We create local solutions. That is, we immerse ourselves in your culture to develop an intimate understanding of the organization and its teams, people, customers, language, and environment. Then, in collaboration with your key staff members, we create an individualized, localized strategy to take advantage of opportunities or overcome issues that could limit your business.

Immediate results. When your organization's performance is on the line, you need to see tangible results—fast. You want to see your investment in our services paying off right away. That's why we focus on helping you overcome practical, real world decisions and challenges immediately as we solve an individual, team, or organizational issue. So you get an opportunity to practice new skills while getting a job done.

Long-lasting change. To create long-lasting, meaningful change, we help you focus on the strengths of your internal resources. From your people to your processes, we build on your strengths to transform individuals, teams, and your entire organization into an optimized operation of high functioning, engaged people and work groups—for the long-term.

Time-saving technology. Our technical experts discern which equipment will be most valuable to our working relationship, so we can be sure to use the right technology to save you time and resources. For example, we might create a web site just for your company, or build onto your existing website to make it easier and more efficient for us to communicate with each other. From one central online location, you will be able to access all documents related to your organization's work with us. You also can take advantage of online assessments, which make it easier and more convenient for your current and potential employees to take the assessments, and for you to review the tools
